extent of whose injuries we have not yet learned. The mishap was caused by the baggage car jumping the track. The scene of the disaster is about 25 miles east of Albany. Captain Cravatt, the conductor, was slightly ir jured. The engine and hands went back down the road early this morning.—The raims have almost submerged the whole country along the line of the road. Fint river, at this point, is now receiving the full force of the late floods up the country, and is awayout of its banks and still raing. Much damage is feared, though we hear of none yet reported. The weather we have had of late, and are still having, is such as crowns all former experience in our section, and will no doubt give all species of vegetation a severe back-set.—Lee court is holding its second week's session this week and is to-day engaged on the case of Calloway, for the killing of Tison. Dougherty superior court opens the first Monday in April.

THE CONSTITUTION, Entered as second-class matter in the Atlanta post-office. December 11, 1879.

ATLANTA, GA., MARCH 24, 1881. MR. RUSKIN is reported to be danger ously ill of brain fever. If he dies, the giants of this period of English literature will all be dead. There were only three of the mbesides Mr. Ruskin-Thackeray Carlyle and George Eliot.

THE nomination of Samuel F. Phillips of North Carolina, to the vacancy in the court of claims, disposes of Mr. Rogers and, we regret to state, of the efforts to give the seat to Judge McCay, of this city. Mr. Phillips has long been connected with the law branch of the treasury office.

THE only thing that really renders th calling of an extra session doubtful is the fact that about a dozen republican stand ready to vote with the democrats in favor of the vetoed funding act including the Carlisle amendment. The banks see the handwriting on the wall, and so do the republican managers.

SENATOR VOORHEES'S anti-bank resolution was taken up yesterday, but it was laid over until to-day, when the vice president will doubtless endeavor to rule it out of order. If he does not succeed in doing this, the resolution will com up on its merits-and then look out for dodging among the western republican

Is' President Garfield is conciliating Senator Conkling, he goes about it in a way that the public do not understand; for he follows up the nomination of Gov ernor Woodford to the district attorney ship with the nomination of State Senator Robertson for the collectorship e the port of New York. Judge Robertson led the Blaine revolt from New York at the Chicago convention, and thus did more to upset Senator Conkling and the emainder of the third-term crowd than any other man. . And yet he is put in control of the largest amount of patronage in his state. The great New York ooss should express himself.

The French Electoral Reform

The cabinet of Jules Ferry, by a secre vote, has decided not to take part in th coming debate over Gambetta's electora measure which was introduced several weeks ago, and which is now pressed for action. Four members of the cabinet are known to favor it, but the premier and the minister of foreign affairs and the president of the republic are opposed to This action of the cabinet does away with the possibility of an immediate cabinet crisis. The measure in question will be the subject of as bitter a political debate as France has witnessed in a long time. I was introduced by M. Bardoux, a warn adherent of Gambetta; and if it become a law, it will be applied to the approac ing general election, in which all French hopes are centered, and upon the result nice way to pay state debts. And, really, of which depends the political complex ion of the legislative assembly. The bill simply proposes to substitute the scrutin de liste for the scrutin de arrondisse ment. The members of congress, for example, in Georgia are elected in accordance with the latter method-by districts; but if, as has been done in some states, the nine members for Georgia ing the names of candidates for the entire state, then we would have the pan gress and out of it. That policy has been a that Gambetta proposes to apply in series of blunders. elected by departments-the largest French civil division-instead of by arrondissements or districts. Suggestion to Georgia Cotton Mills. We are glad to observe that the Clement attachment, to which THE CONSTIution first gave prominence, is making s way in various parts of the southslowly, perhaps, but none the less surely apidiy enough, at all events, to show hat its introduction is in the nature of a ermanent investment rather than an speriment. Mr. Barnes, who has made success of his yarn mill at Senoia, is so much pleased with the simplicity, econmy and profits of the Clement attach ent that he was recently negotiating with a view of building a mill in La-

In Arkansas and Mississippi the ttachment is making its way as rapidly as could be desired by those who are interested in building up and eveloping the industrial resources o south; and quite lately the legislaure of Alabama had under consideraion a bill to encourage the construction of the attachment in neighborhoods where such an investment would be jusified by the production of cotton. The Montgomery Advertiser, commenting upon the purpose of this measure, says that the time cannot be distant when one r more of these simple machines which add so largely to the profit of the cotton op, will be found in every neighbor ood in the cotton belt, unless it be in ocalities where it will be more profitable o patronize the larger and more preten-

When attention was first called to the Clement attachment in these columns, there seemed to be a vague idea in some uarters that they were intended to suersede the more elaborate machinery o he large cotton factories. It was not a very vague idea, either, for a prominent ill-owner, after inspecting one of the stachments in South Carolina, gave i as his solemn opinion that it could never hope to compete with the larger factories As, a matter of course, the bare suggestion of competition was oo absurd almost for explanation. It seems to us that the larger mills-those at Columbus and Augusta, for instance-could make no better investment than to establish these lement machines at convenient points within the radius from which their sup lies are obtained. The introduction of the Clement at tachment in every cotton-producing neighborhood of the south, and our suggestion to the managers of the large cloth mills is not less in the direction of economy than of enterprise. With the attachment as a feeder and an auxiliary no mills in the world could compete with ours as to quality of goods, economy of methods, and correlative of recipies.

—It is a curious fact that the ancestors of most of the wealthy families of New York were tories during the revolution, and fought for or sympathized with the crown. The wealth of the elder Astors was gathered to the British army, but the Rhinelanders fin that day were large real-estate owners, and the old Rhinelander sugar-house in which the 3:000 prisoners captured at the standard were confined, still stands at the corner of William and Rose streets. Some of our ablest statesmen are of the opinion that Mr. Hill's conversation with Mahone was a blunder. If this is true it subsemes that Mr. Hill is in sympathy with the policy of the democratic poarty in congress and out of it. That policy has been a series of blunders.

We gather from the tone of our esteemed republican contemporaries that Frye, of Maine, and mediocrity occupy the same feather-bed. Which shows that mediocrity is an unblushing jade.

That creep in the system and steal the health are aided by drugs. Dr. Flagg's Improved Liver and Stomach Pad drives these away and cures at once and permanently all diseases arising from Disordeed Liver, Stomach, Bowels or Kidneys.

—One of the suburbs of Paris is called La Villette. On the 30-km² February a little boy of 6 years, are only child of poor working people of hat suburb. leaving School, met another bey of 15 years, of the name of Lemaiste, who ommenced talking to the child and plouised to give him a small steel watchguard he had with him if he wouldge with him to his room. The little fellow unsuspectingly followed him. But scarcey had he entered the room when the big boyesized him, bound his hands to gether behird his back, and, opening his clothes so as pare his body in front, took out a knile arl plunged it several times into the boy's elly. The poor child began crying aloud, hereupon the lad caught hold of his heekand cut his throat. Toward evening the your murderer gave himself up to the polis. He confessed he had stolen $40 from his mployer and spent the money, and added "Having read many novels in which scess similar to the one enacted upon the po child were described. I got possessed with e idea that, having done wrong. I must syn and do something worse. So, meeting the child, I thought I must kill him, and I do.

extra old brandy and the bouquet of this ancient duid still lingers in the captain's memory.

Having set 'em up all around, the tranquility of the same was restored, and in less than five minutes after he had been in town, and Suoday at that, Jay Gould casually remarked: "I understand that the people of Augusta are opposing the lease of the Georgia by the Central." Captain Starr opened his eyes, and wanted mentally to know what old Gould knew about it; or if he knew everything, or again, if this was the object of his visit south. He did not express these inquiries, however, in words, but replied that he believed there was some opposition, when the catish orlice again ejaculated: "Yes, there may be considerable opposition, but that will be easily managed. I have often had to contend with these things in my raitroad experience."

Yes, it is altogether probable that the boss has had a good many kinds of experience, but if he comes down hereto Augusta and opens any of his superfluous jaw about overcoming opposition to a lesse, we will wash him out with one of our floods and dry him in the wind, figuratively speaking. We would add in parenthesis, Augusta is against all monopolies, Mr. Gould, and will not consent to be made a way station for Mr. Wadley, or even for the great Mr. Gould.

THE RAILROADS. Augusta Evening News.

Jay Gould is a small, dark man, with stooping shoulders, very small dark eyes and a mouth like a cat fish. He is a common looking man, and dresses as shabby as the keeper of a third-class jewelry store.

Captain Starr, the courteous agent of the Central road in Augusta, says he was expecting him Sunday morning, for he had been advised by telegraph of his arrival, and was ready to extend the courtesy of his road to the king of the palace car. Going into the coach he was surprised to meet such a little old rocster as described, but says Captain Starr, there were several ladies on board who made up in good looks what the old Jay lacked. And besides this, the boss monopolist and great manipulator always travels with some extra old brandy and the bouquet of this ancient fluid still lingers in the captain's memory. While the proprietors of this great remedy do not present it to the public as a cure for "alls the ills that flesh is heir to," they do most confidently and conscientiously declare that for all the diseases for which it is recommended nothing equal to it has ever been offered to suffering humanity.

It acts as a powerful stimulant on the whole nervous system—strengthens the digestive juices of the stomach—assists the persitalic motion of the alimentary canal, and as a local application, by its action upon the nerves and circulation, possesses extraordinary power in relieving pain and removing inflammation. It is proper to add that it is perfectly harmless, containing no opium nor dangerous drug of any kind.

RIGORD'S VITAL RESTORATIVE

There is a well known principle in animal physiology that no vital action can take place accept through the agency of the nervous system. If the nerve power in any organ is weakened, then that organ is weak. There is a remedy in the reach of all, one that has stood the test for over half a century. Dr. Ricord's VITAL Restorative has been scrutinized and indorsed by the Academy of Medicine in Paris as an infallible specific for the above, contains no phosphorus, cantharides or other poison; is purely Vegetable, producing no reaction as permanent in effect; is a sugar-coated pill, and can be had of Levasor & Co., 10 bis rue Richelleu, Paris, France, or of Dr. 8. Another ballboad scheme.

Mr. William Cain, who was employed-last summer and fall in making the survey of the Western North Carolina railroad beyond Asheville went up the road Wednesday. He and Captain Dwight, who surveyed the Chester and Lenoir narrow gauge, will meet in Hickory next Monday and organize their surveying company, and proceed acroes the mountains. They will begin at Lenoir or Patterson, and go through Cook's Gap and along the Watauga river, wend their way towards Tennessee. The object is to extend across the mountains into North Carolina a narrow gauge railroad which is already doing a good busin so through part of Kentucky and Tennessee, connecting in this state with the Chester and Lenoir narrow gauge, or the Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley railroad—most likely the latter—which will then traverse the entire length of the state, passing by the live towns of Wioston and Greensboro and the old historic town of Fayetteville, and reaching tidewater at Wilmington. It was this project, in the hands of General Imboden, that called forth a bill in the late legislature for the establishment of a commission to sell the state's interest in the Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley railroad company. If this proposed road is ever completed it will be a great blessing to a section of the state that has been long needing a respectable outlet from the mountain neoks and glens.

The recent opening of the new route to the Pacific coast, via the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe and the Southern Pacific, the first through train either way being still watched for at its final objective point, makes the following clippings in order, and they are certainly interesting

About twenty five years ago there were two poor boys. There were also two other poor boys at the time, but the story of these two boys is particularly worth telling. Bond, who was in the car next to the engine, noting that something was wrong with the train, stepped to the side door of his car and icoked out. As he did so the train struck the engine, and the sliding door was closed by the jar, striking Mr. Bond ou the head and killing him almost instantly. He was a very popular youns man, of high moral character, and the announcement of his death proved a severe snock to his friends. He was a son of Hon. W. P. THE UNDERWRITERS EET IN TENTH ANNUAL SESSION resident Gay, of Atlanta Welcomes Them in Rhestorical Spe ch — Soveral Interesting Papers Are Read and Discussed, and the First Day's Labors End.

The tenth annual session of the Under writers' association of the south convened n the Kimball house breakfast room yes erday morning. At 11 o'clock Edward S Gay, of Atlanta, president of the associa-tion, called the body to order and in an ppropriate speech welcomed the memberto Atlanta. Mr. Gay's address was a condensed review of the work of the association for the past year. He reterred to the great depression caused by the Chicago fires of 1871 and '72 in the asurance business, and said that now the npanies were just emerging from the paleful influence then cast over them Then to the needs of the association the peaker referred. Said he, "On one point pinions are unanimous, namely: that our reatest need, and remedy for the evils that zation and efficient maintenance local boards. How tha much desired end is to be accomplished, i a subject worthy of the thoughtful consideration of all intelligent underwriters." The ocal agents present were then addressed and requested to participate in the deliber tions of the body. The speaker then spoke of his visi Chicago during the eleventh annual ession of the underwriters of the northwest Said he: "Certainly to the Northwester, association all underwriters owe a debt of ratitude for its beneficen; influence and ervices to our profession."

To the delegation from the New York association of supervising adjusting agents the asident then spoke in terms of welcome, d said that only by these fraternal visits add a friendly feeling be brought about Various acts of the associations performed the executive committee into the feeting.

introduced the following resolution:
Resolved, That all resident and visiting underwriters be invited to seats on the floor and to participate in the proceedings of and pleasant speech.

The president then instructed the secretary to proceed with the call of the roll of ers, but upon motion this was de until the entire membership coul e minutes of the last regular meeting wa heir report but this paper contained no facts of material worth. The report was adopted.

Major John C. Whitner, of Atlanta introduced the following gentlemen, who are delegates to this association from the Northwestern underwriter's association: J M DeCamp, H. K. Lindsey, George W Neff, J P. Vance, of Chechnati, and H. H Walker, of Indianapolis.

To the welcome extended these visitors by the chair, Mr. DeCamp gave an elegant reply, which was received with great applause by the association.

The chair appointed Mesers. Thomas Timberlake and Moore as a committee to confer with Mr. M. Bennett, of Hartford Conn., the orator of the session, in order to ascertain at what time he would be ready to deliver the annual address.

Leiters and telegrams were read by the secretary from various members of the association who are unable to attend this session. Among these was one from Major J. B. Ezell, vice president.

Mr. Moore, to whom was delegated the preparation of a paper on "the form of policy," then took the floor and entertained the house with an elaborate treatment of to other insurances upon which a smaller cent was charged be ground taken by Mr. Timberlake in his er, which by the way was an elegantly pared essay, called forth a general dission by the association. Ir Sorley, of Galveston, moved to apt the paper and that it be recorded in proceedings. Upon this motion Mr daey, of Cincinnati, contradicted the ements of the paper and then the ements of the paper and then the cassion, though good humored and at es ludicrous, waxed warm, but, with same zeal with which he prepared paper, Mr. Timberlake defended The paper was finally received by the ociation and a vote of thanks given refer.

to the proper pression at short rates.

Mr. Graeme moved to amend by striking out all words after the word "discourage and to change that word to "discontinue." This amendment produced a general discussion, in which Mesers Cunningham Dargan, Graeme, Lee, Moore, Waltner and the president participated Finally upon motion the resolution was recommitted to the committee.

The third resolution was:
Resolved, That in view of the importance of

This resolution met the fate of its predecessor, and was likewise recommitted.

Mr. Castleman, of Atlanta, then arose and in a few remarks informed the visiting underwriters that the Atlanta underwriters had authorized him to extend them an invitation to a bar-quet at 7% o'clock to right in this room. The speaker said that he hoped every visitor would defer his departure until after the banquet. The invitation was accepted and a vote of hanks returned. To this banquet the Southern underwriters, visiting underwriters and representatives of the insurance press are invited.

Upon smotion the association adjourned to meet at 10 o'clock this morning.
